Introduction

This Referencing and Style Guide is designed to assist the students of Nature Care College to reference and present papers at an appropriate in-house standard. Assignments and essays require the student to:

- Think clearly and critically
- Research over a wide range of sources
- Use valid and appropriate evidence
- Reference work correctly and concisely
- Produce well structured and coherent work

How to Write Assignments and Essays - The Key Steps

- ☑ Carefully read and analyse the assignment questions. Were there any additional special instructions given by your lecturer. Discuss any queries about the assignment with your lecturer.
- ☑ Write down questions that need to be answered to complete your assignment. Think about why the assignment has been set- what are the learning goals? Look at the scoring of the assignment to judge how much work should be done for each area of the assignment.
- ☑ Write down ideas from the knowledge you already have gained through your studies.
- ☑ Research and read from a variety of books, journals and other credible academic sources. Take notes and keep a record of citations.
- ☑ Ensure you have answered all of the assignment questions within your work.
- ☑ Cite correctly and appropriately and complete the reference list at the back of the assignment.
- ☑ Prioritise and allocate time to ensure you submit your assignment on time.

How to Present Assignments

When submitting any form of assessable work to your lecturer please adhere to the following checklist. This assists your lecturer in marking your work quickly and efficiently, providing you with valuable feedback and a timely notification of your grade.

- ☑ Word process or type all work
- ☑ Use 10, 11 or 12 point text
- ☑ Use Arial, Times New Roman or Times style fonts - these fonts are designed to be easy to read
- ☑ Use double or 1.5 spacing

Main Principles of a Reference List

Each item that you referred to in your assignment must be accurately described so it cannot be confused with a similar item. Enough information must be given so the writer/reader can track and source the specific material if desired. This acknowledgement is important so as to:

- give due credit to the author of the information
- to not breach copyright regulations
- to avoid plagiarism issues

Plagiarism occurs when you take the ideas, writings etc. of another person and use them as your own without fully acknowledging the source or formatting the information appropriately. This does not mean that you cannot use the work of others but in doing so you must quote, summarise or paraphrase the information AND fully acknowledge the source.

Important Note:

Remember, when summarising or paraphrasing the key is that the text must be in your own words. ALL text, whether quoted, summarised or paraphrased, must be referenced fully.

Referencing and Citation Styles

There are many interpretations of formatting citations. Here at Nature Care College you will be able to use either the Author-Date style of description or the Numeric style for your references.

Examples of the author-date style include the various forms of the Harvard referencing style or the APA (American Psychological Association) referencing style.

An example of the numeric style would be the Vancouver referencing style. You are welcome to use any of these if you are familiar with them.

The following pages of this Referencing and Style Guide will give you guidelines on the author-date and numeric styles as used by Nature Care College, in case you are new to referencing.

Once you have picked your preferred style, you will need to stick with it throughout the entirety of your paper.

Be aware that individual lecturers may have a preferred way for you to cite, so please check whether a specific style is expected from you.

There are many websites and guides to be found via the internet, should you need further information.

Citation and Formatting Details

In-text references

When writing your paper you will need to quote, paraphrase or refer to the work of other people. The different citation styles mentioned previously, have different ways to include in-text references into the main body of your work (a full descriptive citation will need to be included in the form of a Reference List at the end of your paper in all cases).

Author-Date Style

Includes the author's surname and year of publication in parentheses directly after the quote, reference or paraphrase in the main body of your work.

If you include the author's surname in a sentence, only the publication year needs to be put in parentheses and placed directly after the author's name.

Page numbers are included if using a direct quotation.

- This health issue was first discussed in 2005 (Hobson 2005)
- Hobson (2005) was the first to discuss the problem
- 'Direct quote' (Hobson 2005, p. 44)

Notes:

When an item written by two authors is referenced, both names are given:

- Taylor & Smith (1975) reported changes to...
- Chances of recovery following this treatment are excellent (Drew & Buchanan 1974).

When an item has more than two authors, use "et al" after the surname of the first author mentioned in the item you are referencing:

- Story telling is a basic part of culture (Yaxley et al. 1999)...
- Yaxley et al. (1999) state...

Numeric Style

Numbers are assigned to each item you are citing. They are progressive throughout your work and you will be using the same numeral if that same item is referred to again.

At the end of a sentence, immediately after a direct quotation or the author's name, Arabic numbers are placed in either a superscript position or in parentheses.

- This assumption has been convincingly refuted (1)...
- It has been stated that hypertension is associated with structural changes in the heart and blood vessels <sup>1</sup>

Notes:

If multiple references are made at the same place in your paper, either use a hyphen to join subsequent references or separate them by a comma:

- A number of studies (1-3) reported...
- A number of studies <sup>1,3,5</sup> reported...

If citing specific pages, use the following:

- Hobson (3 p75) states that...
- Hobson<sup>3</sup> (pp 75-81) states...

Reference List Guidelines

Regardless of whether you pick the author-date or the numeric style for your in-text references, you will need to add a full citation for each item used in the form of a Reference List at the end of your paper.

If you decided to use one of the previously mentioned style guides (Harvard, APA, Vancouver) you will be aware that said reference list has to be formatted in a certain way. Please use the compatible formatting style.

If you decided to follow the Nature Care College in-house guidelines on the author-date or the numeric styles, the following pages of this Referencing and Style Guide will give you comprehensive advice on how to format your reference list.

If you chose the author-date in-text referencing style, your reference list will be compiled alphabetically by author surname.

If you chose the numeric in-text referencing style, your reference list will be listed numerically in the same order you have cited the items in your paper.
